Add some meaning to your time display, and make your desktop all the more hip with this collection of traditional Kanji characters. Choose the clock face (or you can click on the 'face' button to show the available characters in a popup): Square or Circle Position the clock to fit your needs: Top-Left Top-Right Bottom-Left Bottom-Right Choose the character, font and size to suit your needs: Japanese Traditional Kanji List & Font Choose the color to match your desktop: Dark Blue Light Blue Green Purple Orange Pink Yellow Red White Grey Installing the Widget: Place your cursor on the top of the YAHOO! Widget Engine page, where it says "Click here to begin". Click the big orange box that says "Click here to begin" and the Widget Engine page will display a list of available widgets and buttons. Drag the Widget to your desktop. Once the widget is installed, you may need to restart the YAHOO! Widget Engine. If your widget is in the panel on the left of your screen, you may need to re-size the panel to fit the widget. To do this, right-click on the Widget and select "Arrange". Then drag the Widget to the position you prefer. Many people have problems with this one. The reason is that there are Japanese characters that use the same strokes as the English characters for the same words. So, for example, the word "ice" can be written "shi" in Japanese but "ka" in English. Then you have the character "e" which is in the same place in both languages but has the same meaning and is pronounced the same way. The Japanese character is "kaku" and the English character is "cube." So, as you can see, if you are looking for the same characters for English and Japanese, you are bound to have problems.
